

By using a single camera, you can find the perspective of a 3D object (a cube) in a 2D image. The camera is positioned at the origin of the coordinate system, and the object is positioned at the origin of the coordinate system. The image is a 2D projection of the 3D object.

Top-Left View

Top-Right View

Bottom-Right View

Camera Position
Object Position