

QUESTION

Answer: a

According to the IASB, the primary objective of financial reporting is to provide information that is useful to investors and other users in making decisions about providing resources to the reporting entity.

Therefore, the primary objective of financial reporting is to provide information that is useful to investors and other users in making decisions about providing resources to the reporting entity.

Explanation: The primary objective of financial reporting is to provide information that is useful to investors and other users in making decisions about providing resources to the reporting entity.

QUESTION: The primary objective of financial reporting is to provide information that is useful to investors and other users in making decisions about providing resources to the reporting entity.

